- You should not close this window but, instead, minimise it. You can then click on internet explorer to browse the internet.
- When you have finished using the connection, you will need to log out using the window which you have minimised.
- If you do not disconnect via this window, it will continue to use up your time allocation, even if you are not using the internet.
- If this window was closed, it can be re-opened by typing <http://1.1.1.1/info> into the navigator.
- To disconnect, click on
